MARK SCHEME

INSTRUCTIONS TO EXAMINERS

You should remember that your marking standards should reflect the levels of performance of candidates, mainly 17 years old, writing under examination conditions.

Positive Marking

You should be positive in your marking, giving credit for what is there rather than being too conscious of what is not. Do not deduct marks for irrelevant or incorrect answers as candidates penalise themselves in terms of the time they have spent.

Mark Range

You should use the whole mark range available in the mark scheme. Where the candidate's response to a question is such that the mark scheme permits full marks to be awarded, full marks must be given. A perfect answer is not required. Conversely, if the candidate's answer does not deserve credit, then no marks should be given.

Alternative Answers / Layouts

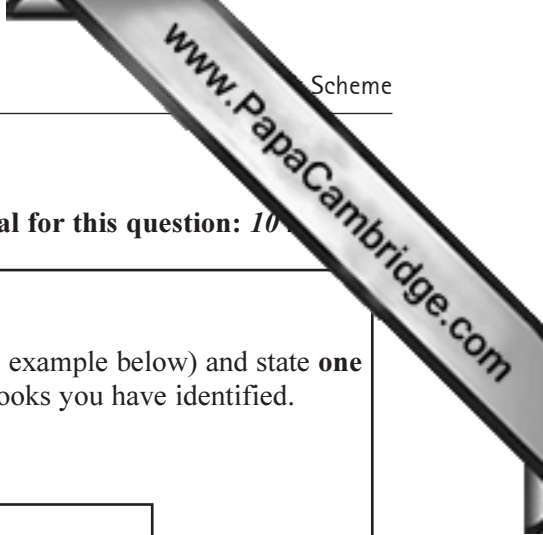

The answers given in the mark scheme are not exhaustive and other answers may be valid. If this occurs, examiners should refer to their Team Leader for guidance. Similarly, candidates may set out their accounts in either a vertical or horizontal format. Both methods are acceptable.

Own Figure Rule

In cases where candidates are required to make calculations, arithmetic errors can be made so that the final or intermediate stages are incorrect. To avoid a candidate being penalised repeatedly for an initial error, candidates can be awarded marks where they have used the correct method with their own (incorrect) figures. Examiners are asked to annotate a script with OF where marks have been allocated on this basis. Similarly, OF marks can be awarded where candidates make correct conclusions or inferences from their incorrect calculations.

Quality of Written Communication

Once the whole script has been marked the work of the candidate should be assessed for the Quality of Written Communication, using the criteria at the end of the mark scheme. The mark should be shown separately on the candidate's script.

REQUIRED

- (a) In the table below identify three subsidiary books (other than the example below) and state one source document which is used to make an entry in each of the books you have identified.

An example has been given.

	Subsidiary book	Source document
e.g.	Petty cash book	Petty cash voucher
Any suitable example for each of three matching examples: Sales day book/journal (sales) invoice Purchase day book/journal (purchase) invoice Returns in or out day book/journal... credit note Cash book cheque or paying-in counterfoil Journal written instruction / invoice for Fixed Asset

3 items x 2 = 6 marks

- (b) Explain two benefits to a business of using a computer to record financial transactions.

Speed (1). Will enable several entries to be made simultaneously (1).

Accuracy (1). Less opportunity for error (1) as there are multiple entries (1).

Neatness (1). All accounts printed and are more legible (1).

Any other suitable example but not from workers' point of view.

Identify (1) + development (1).

Joe Parkinson's books show the following information for December 2002.

Cash sales were £28 967.45 including VAT at 17.5%.

The VAT on purchases for the month was £2389.36.

The purchase of new machinery included VAT of £600.

REQUIRED

Calculate the amount of VAT due to Customs and Excise for the month of December 2002. Show detailed workings.

$$4314.30 \text{ (3OF)} - 2389.36 \text{ (1)} - 600 \text{ (1)} = \text{£}1324.94 \text{ (1OF)}$$

Workings

$$28\,967.45 \text{ (1)} \times \frac{0.175}{1.175} \text{ (1 formula)} = 4314.30 \text{ (1)}$$

James Cadwallader was advised to prepare the following:

1. a bank reconciliation statement;
2. control accounts;
3. a trial balance.

REQUIRED

- (a) Complete the following table, showing the account(s) which each of these techniques would verify.

	Technique	Account(s)
1.	Bank reconciliation statement	Bank account (1)
2.	Control accounts	Debtors and/or creditors accounts (1)
3.	Trial balance	All accounts (1)

3 marks

- (b) Do these three techniques show whether or not his bookkeeping was correct? Justify your answer.

It is partially true only (1).

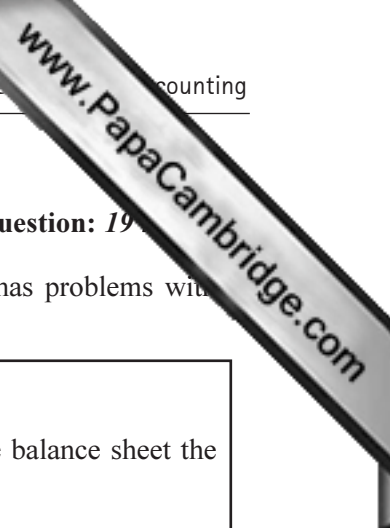

The bank reconciliation will show differences between cash book and the bank statement (1) shows if they do not agree (1) compares the balance from the bank statement to the balance in the cash book (1).

Some errors are revealed (1) by the trial balance (1) and the control accounts (1) but it only checks the arithmetical accuracy (1).

It shows if the debits and credits are equal (1).

Some errors are not revealed (1). Allow for one suitable error named (1) and described (1) and the trial balance will still agree (1) even if there are errors present (1).

QUALITY OF WRITTEN COMMUNICATION

After the candidate's script has been marked, the work should be assessed for the Quality of Written Communication, using the following criteria.

Marks

- 0 Accounts and financial statements are unclear and poorly presented.
There is little or no attempt to show workings or calculations.
Descriptions and explanations lack clarity and structure.
There is very limited use of specialist vocabulary.
Answers may be legible but only with difficulty.
Errors in spelling, punctuation and grammar are such that meaning is unclear.
- 1-2 There is some attempt to present accounts and financial statements in an appropriate format.
Workings are missing or are not clearly linked to the answers.
Descriptions and explanations are understandable but they lack a logical structure.
There is some use of specialist vocabulary but this is not always applied appropriately.
In most cases answers are legible, but errors in spelling, punctuation and grammar are such that meaning may be unclear.
- 3 Accounts and financial statements are generally well presented but there are a few errors.
Workings are shown and there is some attempt to link them to the relevant account(s).
Descriptions and explanations are usually clearly expressed but there are some weaknesses in the logical structure. There is a good range of specialist vocabulary which is used with facility.
Answers are legible. Spelling is generally accurate and the standard conventions of punctuation and grammar are usually followed.
- 4 Accounts and financial statements are well organised and clearly presented.
Workings are clearly shown and easy to follow. Descriptions and explanations are clearly expressed.
Arguments are logically structured. There is wide use of specialist vocabulary which is used relevantly and precisely.
Answers are clearly written and legible. Spelling is accurate and the standard conventions of punctuation and grammar are followed so that meaning is clear.
