GIRLS ARE AMAZING

What's it all about?

Girls Are Amazing is a campaign all about you becoming powerful and awesome!

We want you to speak out about the issues that you believe in, because your voice matters!

We'll be inspiring you with stories of girls who are doing incredible things in their lives, and exciting ways that you can make a difference in the world! Are you ready? Let's do this!

The text below is from the second column of text from Text A on page 5 of the question paper.

The Girl Talk Promise

Live your life the Girl Talk way. Tick the boxes to make the GT promise!

I will love myself just the way I am.

By working hard, I know I can achieve great things.

I will accept others for who they are.

I have the confidence to stand up for my friends and other girls.

I believe girls are equal to boys.

Look out for amazing girls through the mag!

TEXT B

The following is a transcript of Text B on page 8 of the question paper.

Men are from ‘er’ and women are from ‘um’: Speech markers reveal details about your age, sex and lifestyle, scientists claim

- Separate studies found that men and older people prefer using ‘er’
- Women and teenagers more likely to use ‘um’ during gaps in speech
- In an interview, Barack Obama used ‘uh’ – the equivalent of ‘er’ – 9 times
- Interview with Kim Kardashian showed her use of ‘um’ 100% of the time
- Footballer David Beckham is classed as a ‘betweenner’ using a mix
- Trend in women is more prominent, claims Professor Josef Fruehwald
- There is no conclusive theory as to why women prefer to use ‘um’

By Ellie Zolfagharifard for Mailonline

A major rift has emerged within the English-speaking world, pitting Barack Obama against Kim Kardashian and Eminem against David Beckham.

The division is between ‘ummers’ and ‘errers’, and, while you may not be aware of it, your gender and age could have a huge influence on which group you fall into.

Men and older people prefer to use ‘er’ during gaps in speech, while women and teenagers are more likely to use ‘um’, according to recent research.
